

Walking Side-By-Side: Outsourcing and extending teams far beyond the central office

THE COMPANY

Leading-edge analytics, intuitive software applications, and engaged, active learning opportunities are brought together by [redacted] to serve the needs of [redacted] [redacted] across the country. Behind each one of its powerful applications is a reputation for lightning-fast results from terabytes of data and extensive reporting abilities.

THE NEED

[redacted] custom builds many of its applications, depending on its customer needs. Other [redacted] are being built or are waiting in the wings. This creates a flexing need for developers, depending on what is required at any given time.

THE SOLUTION

Working as an extension of the [redacted] team, [redacted] is able to scale their development team up or down for the ideal mixture of developers at any given time. Both teams are fully integrated with each other and work in tandem, providing benefits and greater opportunity for all.

